

ALLFISH

Stakeholder Stocktake Spreadsheets September 2010

Preface

ALLFISH is interested in partnering with a broad spectrum of companies and organizations to promote responsible fisheries and aquaculture particularly in developing countries. There are a number of companies playing an important role in the promotion of sustainable fisheries and many organizations from large environmental groups to small community groups in developing countries. Listed here are some of the companies and organizations working in sustainable fisheries to give stakeholders a sense of the breadth of efforts and interests working to improve fisheries and aquaculture world-wide.

The groups listed here are not necessarily affiliated with ALLFISH and inclusion in this list does not imply any present or future affiliation with ALLFISH. This list is meant to help stakeholders understand and identify potential partners for ALLFISH projects.
